U.S. COURT OF FEDERAL CLAIMS

Judicial Council of the United States Court of Federal Claims (Filed: May 2, 2019)

IN RE COMPLAINTS OF JUDICIAL MISCONDUCT

Docket Nos. CL-18-90172, CL-18-90174

Before: The Judicial Council of the United States Court of Federal Claims¹

In the fall of 2018, the court received two reports alleging that an active senior judge of the United States Court of Federal Claims ("the subject judge") engaged in judicial misconduct. See docket nos. CL-18-90172, CL-18-90174². In accordance with Rules 11(a)(4) and 11(f) of the Rules for Judicial-Conduct and Judicial-Disability Proceedings ("RJCP") (Sept. 17, 2015), the acting Chief Judge³ referred the complaints to the undersigned Special Committee for investigation and further proceedings.

In the spring of 2019, the subject judge retired, permanently and irrevocably relinquishing the judicial office of a senior judge of the United States Court of Federal Claims pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § $178(j)(4)(A)^4$.

The Judicial Conduct and Disability Act ("the Act"), codified as 28 U.S.C. §§ 351– 64, and the RJCP, allow for any individual to complain about a federal judge who "has engaged in conduct prejudicial to the effective and expeditious administration of the business of the courts or is unable to discharge the duties of office because of mental or physical disability." 28 U.S.C. § 351(a); RJCP 1. The Act is concerned with individuals who currently exercise the powers of the office of federal judge. Its emphasis is on the correction of conditions that interfere with the effective and expeditious administration of the business of the courts. Similarly, the RJCP provide that "[a] complaint under these Rules may concern the actions or capacity only of judges of the United States courts of appeals, judges of the United States district courts, judges of the United States bankruptcy courts, United States magistrate judges, and judges of the courts specified in 28 U.S.C. § 363" including the United States Court of Federal Claims. RJCP 4.

² Complaint no. CL-18-90172 was initiated by a complainant pursuant to Rule 6 of the Rules for Judicial-Conduct and Judicial-Disability Proceedings ("RJCP"). Complaint no. CL-18-90174 was identified as a complaint by the Chief Judge pursuant to RJCP 5(a).

³ Pursuant to RJCP 25(f), Judge Thomas C. Wheeler is acting as Chief Judge as "the most senior active judge not disqualified."

Where a former judge has fully resigned her judicial office, and can no longer perform any judicial duties, that former judge does not fall within the scope of persons who can be investigated under the Act. Accordingly, the Judicial Council must "conclude the proceeding because . . . intervening events have made the proceeding unnecessary." RJCP 20(b)(1)(B); see also RJCP 11 cmt.
